

TechAgain.com

TechAgain is a Nonprofit organization focusing on the collection and redistribution of used technology for those in need.

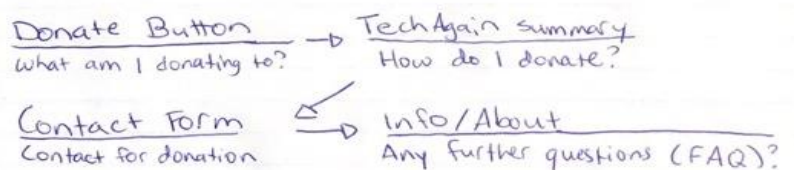

Techagain provides a service that allows for children in poverty to have access to technology they would otherwise never be able to afford. Our organization helps to seek out, collect, and redistribute devices globally. Through Techagain's vast network of charitable connections, we locate areas with a lack of essential resources to start projects for. Our motto, "Reduce. Reuse. Retech" defines the movement that our organization strives for. We're just trying to make the world a cleaner, smarter, and more innovative place to live.

Wireframes

Flows

COMPS

